7th Grade

7 Social Studies - The study guide for the Egypt test has been posted and is due on Monday February 14 for an in-class review. Students will then have 2 more nights to study their corrected study guides before the test on Wednesday, February 16. Please note: any missing work is due on Monday, February 14 at the very latest. After that, everything with a zero will remain a zero. Students can determine what they are missing by checking Jupiter.

8th Grade

8 ELA - Benchmark Essay scores are posted, and essays will be handed back tomorrow. A 70% or below indicates that students should get teacher support for the next essay. 70-80% means students should share a draft with a teacher for support. An 80% and above means students are clear to peer-edit and use revision check lists for essays from here on out! We will finish Lord of the Flies next week and will do an essay about a symbol or allegory in the book after the break.

Nauset Principal Visit - The principal of Nauset Regional High School will come to CCLCS to meet with 8th grade students during the school day on February 15th. He will be at CCLCS in the evening at 7 p.m., to meet with parents and explain the transition process and curriculum. Save the date!
